Year in Review

Prepared by: Shane Linton
Dec2018

My Dear SC Family,

As we approach the end of this year, I want to thank each one of you for being part of this family. I appreciate your great work, commitment and dedication, which have been integral to Sharia's Closet's progress and success.

Three years of operating in a sector such as ours that is constantly and rapidly evolving is an achievement that I am particularly proud of – I am honored to be here and even more so to have done it on the back of our consistent strong values of Dignity, respect, personalization, and quality.

This was illustrated in our recent results, where our number of individual helped surpassed last year's numbers. This achievement is recognition of our great management team and the hard work of our volunteers and interns. We have made impressive progress in reaching more individual through the 48 referring organization that we support– all while raising our profile and prominence in the industry.

There is still plenty to be achieved in Sharia's Closet's evolution and I see next year lined up with many successes and great achievements.

Motivational & Inspiring Quotes

“The best way to not feel hopeless is to get up and do something. Don’t wait for good things to happen to you. If you go out and make some good things happen, you will fill the world with hope, you will fill yourself with hope.”— Barack Obama

Shamine received the AKM Community Service Award from Lambda Kappa Mu Sorority.

At Sharia’s Closet we follow what the late Steve Jobs stated ... because we love helping our fellow man, woman, and children.....“People say you have to have a lot of passion for what you’re doing and it’s totally true. And the reason is because it’s so hard that if you don’t, any rational person would give up. It’s really hard. And you have to do it over a sustained period of time. So if you don’t love it, if you’re not having fun doing it, you don’t really love it, you’re going to give up. And that’s what happens to most people, actually. If you really look at the ones that ended up, you know, being “successful” in the eyes of society and the ones that didn’t, oftentimes, it’s the ones [who] were successful loved what they did so they could persevere, you know, when it got really tough. And the ones that didn’t love it quit because they’re sane, right? Who would want to put up with this stuff if you don’t love it? ”

We at Sharia's Closet Always keep in our mind that volunteers are not the same as employees. They can choose to stay or walk away at any time without any real loss to themselves, and that's one reason why it's so important to show your appreciation. They are critical to the success of any organization, so make sure you take time out of your day to thank them, and remind them of how special they really are!

When an individual commits themselves to volunteer on a consistent basis they have chosen to give up their own time to support an activity to benefit others. This brings me to values. Some of the strongest values, service and sacrifice are shown when one places the needs of another above their own. The true volunteer chooses to give up their personal time and energy and expend it to help others.
